Historic Event Was Held Last 16 Years Ago; Workable Program Outlined

Woodstock, July 25 — The famed Maverick Festival, the last of which was held in 1931, will be revived next month if plans now under consideration materialize.

Plans for resumption of the gala event, which was started in 1915 by the late Hervey White and reached its peak under his direction, were formulated last night at a meeting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Chase, Byrdcliffe, this village.

It was reported reliably today that Captain and Mrs. Kees Vander Loo, administrators of the Maverick property, have given their consent for the festival.

Mrs. Chase was appointed executive chairman of the newly formed committee, to be known as the Hervey White Festival Committee. Present at the meeting were Pierre Henrotte and Thomas Toman, of the Maverick; Mr. and Mrs. Chase and George Hard. This group will be the nucleus of a larger committee to make all arrangements for the festival.

The proceeds of the affair will be divided between a number of cultural and civic groups, "in the spirit of Hervey White."

Route 28 Work Is Begun; Crew Busy Removing Trees

Operations Started Near Chalet Indien at Boiceville; Travel
Will Continue

Work on the construction of the 9.82 miles of Route 28 from West Hurley to Cold Brook is under way this week, it was learned today.

Reconstruction of the highway which will eliminate dangerous curves over at least one-third of the section to be rebuilt, will continue through the year and is expected to be completed next year, James S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Department of Highways, said today.

A small crew of workmen employed by the N. R. Corbisselle Company of Binghamton, which won the contract on a bid of $1,697,236.75, began work this week on the Cold Brook end of the project near the Chalet Indien.

They are cutting away trees and brush in preparation for the heavier work which is expected to start soon.

Open to Travel

Construction over the entire section will not interfere with travel over the route for the balance of the season, the district engineer said. He reported also that the entire route will be open to travel through the duration of the project, but indicated that much of the traffic later will probably "select" to take the route through Woodstock to Mt. Tremper and other points deeper in the mountains.

Such grading operations and other work, which is to be started this year, will be carried on without interference to traffic, the engineer said, although there might be some inconvenience to travel over the route during part of the construction work next year.

Under the contractor's plan, the engineer explained, the "heavy cuts and fill" operations will be carried on through the fall and winter, so that the laying of the

Treasury Receipts
Washington, July 25 (AP)—The position of the Treasury July 23: Receipts $67,374,585.53; expenditures $67,002,004.89; balance $3,624,446,153.17; customs receipts for month $28,546,013.49; receipts fiscal year July 1 $1,869,058,794.94; expenditures fiscal year $2,474,075,298.34; excess of expenditures $605,016,503.40; total debt $258,847,425,454.85; increase over June 5 to do unless Congress passed the House by voice vote and was sent to the Senate. Senate action is expected to send the measure on to the White House by tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board predicted that Mr. Truman will lift the restraints, as he promised, "the order" which put the controls into effect.

The House and Senate had passed separate bills concerning the restrictions. After the White House mix-up congressional leaders quickly appointed conferees who reached agreement on a bill to end the curbs by November 1.

The bill does not go as far as Mr. Truman requested. Legislative action previously included these steps:

The Senate passed a bill authorizing controls until December 31 by specifying that no more than a one-fifth down payment need be required and that instalments

Early Data Is Gathered Prior to Awarding Contract to Steinman

The New York State Bridge Authority and David Barnard Steinman, bridge engineer who has been selected by the Authority to make preliminary plans and studies for the Kingston-Rhincliff bridge, are still engaged on the preparation of preliminary data prior to awarding contracts for surveys, studies and the drafting of preliminary plans. No contract for this preliminary work has yet been awarded.

Mr. Steinman, one of the country's outstanding bridge authorities, was selected by the Bridge Authority on July 9 to proceed with the preliminary studies and after these studies are completed contracts will be awarded for test borings and other surveys necessary to determine the exact location of the bridge.

James F. Loughran, local member of the New York State Bridge Authority, when asked regarding the progress of the project, stated that the studies were being made but that nothing definite had been done as yet toward the awarding of any contracts which would fix the location of the structure.

He indicated that there was a considerable amount of work necessary before such contracts could be let, but he said as a member of the authority and "very much interested" in the bridge project, he would do everything possible to speed the work.

Instalment Curbs May End In Nation Before November 1

Washington, July 25 (AP)—A return to unrestricted instalment buying by November 1 appears likely today with the possibility that President Truman might end controls on time payment purchases even earlier.

Compromise legislation to kill the credit buying curbs at the end of October passed the House by voice vote and was sent to the Senate. Senate action is expected to send the measure on to the White House by tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board predicted that Mr. Truman will lift the restraints, as he promised, "the order" which put the controls into effect.

The House and Senate had passed separate bills concerning the restrictions. After the White House mix-up congressional leaders quickly appointed conferees who reached agreement on a bill to end the curbs by November 1.

Marriage Slack Reported in Nation

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The post-war boom in romance has reached its peak; marriages are on the decline.

The National Office of Vital Statistics reported today that 427,319 couples bought marriage licenses during the first quarter of 1947. That is 20 per cent fewer than the number issued during the same quarter of 1946.

Last year set a new record in American marriages, a total of 2,313,795 or about 41.8 per cent more than in 1945. In the war year of 1944 only 1,452,394 licenses were issued.

State Will Conduct Traffic Survey in Kingston in August

Study Will Determine
Need for Arterial Highways; Will Halt Cars

A traffic study to obtain data for the survey branch of the Division of Highways, State Department of Public Works, will be conducted here next month for the determination of arterial highway routes through the city, it was learned today.

Both local and state police and possibly local firemen will be asked to assist in the survey which is part of a program to be carried out in several key cities in the state.

Applications for assistance by the local and state police and the fire department, if it is found necessary, is expected to be made by the district branch office of the state survey unit within the next two weeks, and it is expected that the survey will start locally in about three weeks.

Will Be Asked to Help

The local officials will be asked to assist representatives of the State Department of Public Works in the study.

Under the plan as carried out in other cities, the local officials will halt vehicles at about half the number of "stations" designated as important points in obtaining the data desired. State police will assist in the survey on the outskirts of the city.

The state department issues two cards to each driver stopped. One is placed on the windshield to indicate that the car has been stopped, and the other a postcard, is to be filed out and mailed to James S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Department of Public Works in Poughkeepsie.

Boss Will Cooperate

Police Chief Ernest A. Boss said today that he had not received the initial notice yet of the survey, but indicated that he would give the same cooperation as extended the state department in other cities of this size.

Among other cities scheduled to be included in the survey are, Middletown, Port Jervis, Peekskill, Hudson and probably Albany. It was scheduled to be conducted at Newburgh this week.

P.S.C. Approves Increase In Motor Carrier Rates

Albany, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—The Public Service Commission approved today a temporary five per cent increase in New York motor carrier rates for motor truck operators, pending the outcome of five separate rate cases now in progress.

The commission approved an interim report by Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy, which recommended the temporary increase upon "evidence that operators are failing to meet operating costs by a considerable margin."

The new rates will become effective upon one day's notice to the public.

The commission denied a request by certain groups of carriers for establishment of so-called "arbitraries," which are extra charges for shipments from other parts of the state into the metropolitan New York district.

Eddy held that this phase of the rate matter required further investigation.

Eddy said in his report that the proposed five per cent increase "is less than the amount by which the carriers' costs have been increased as a result of the recent labor negotiations in most areas of the state."

He added:

"Permitting the five per cent increase to go into effect will simply ameliorate a bad condition."

The motor carrier rates affected by the temporary commission proceedings and involve several hundred carriers described as members of the New York Motor Car-

27 Miners Die in Blast In Illinois

Many Bodies Burned
Badly, State Mines
Director Says; Cause
Is Not Known

Lewis Is Safe

Brother of J. L. Lewis
Is Reported to Be Among Saved

West Frankfort, Ill., July 25 (AP)—Twenty-seven miners lost their lives in an explosion yesterday in one of the state's largest mines in the heart of the southern Illinois coal fields.

Twenty-six of the approximate 200 miners at work in the diggings 500 feet underground were found dead about a mile and a half south of the bottom of the shaft at the main entrance to the Old Ben Coal Company's No. 8 mine. One of the five seriously burned and injured in the blast died today in a hospital.

The bodies of all 26 had been brought to the surface early today by rescue squads and were placed in an emergency morgue set up at the Central Junior High School gymnasium. Relatives who remained at the mine throughout the night during rescue operations, sought to identify the victims.

Work was hampered by carbon monoxide gas and the last three bodies found were buried beneath coal and debris.

Conflicting Reports Given

During the rescue operations there had been conflicting reports of the total number of men trapped. The rescue teams worked frantically to reach the men, in the belief they had been trapped by rock slides and might be alive.

However, early today Walker said all 26 men were dead. Earlier

Coroner D. J. Clayton of Franklin said 28 had lost their lives.

One of the miners at first believed among those trapped but who later was reported safe was Howard Lewis, underground superintendent and a brother of John L. Lewis, president of the A.F.L. United Mine Workers.

Of the estimated 200 day shift workers in the diggings those who escaped fled through an auxiliary air shaft equipped with stairways for emergencies.

The blast occurred nearly four months after the explosion last March 25 at the Central (Ill.) Coal Company's mine which cost the lives of 111 miners.

News of the explosion in mid-afternoon spread quickly through this coal mining city of 33,000 and hundreds of persons rushed to the diggings on the southern outskirts.

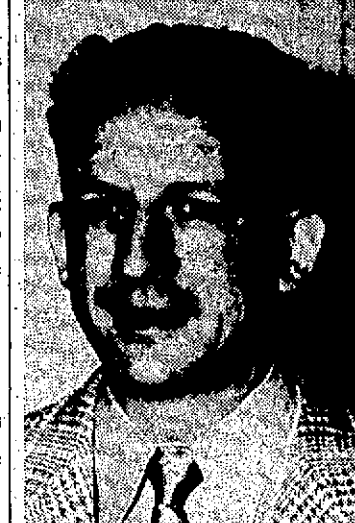

Crews Are Organized

Rescue crews were hastily organized and calls were put in for extra supplies of blood plasma.

ROBERT A. SNYDER

The axiom about a busy man always being able to assume one more job will hold true if Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties is elected to the presidency of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at tonight's session of the 12th annual convention in Port Ewen. Currently holding the office of first vice president, he has an insurance office in his home town and is serving as Ulster county clerk. Conventions are held each year in the community honored by the presidency, which means the 1948 session will be held in Saugerties if Mr. Snyder gets the office.

Clayton Band Will March Tomorrow; Barred in Catskill

Non-Union Organization on Unfair List of Musicians, It Is Announced

Clayton's Military Band of Ellenville, which was barred as a non-union organization from the parade of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association last year, will march tomorrow in the association's convention parade in Port Ewen, it was learned today.

The band is scheduled to lead the fire companies of Kerhonkson, Nanapanoch and Accord in tomorrow's line of march, but it has been reported that it will not be allowed to parade with the Firemen's Association of the State of New York at Catskill August 22.

The state association's Committee on Fireman's Activities, has notified the band, it was learned, that it will not be permitted to parade, but the band has indicated that it will attempt to lead the Saugerties unit in the Catskill parade as a test case.

Paraded Separately

The band, and the fire company it led, staged a separate parade in the convention at Kingston last year after it was ruled out of the regular line of march.

This year the county association adopted a resolution authorizing both union and non-union bands to parade, but the state organization, it was learned, is holding to the view that the Ellenville unit will be ineligible to appear in the Catskill parade.

On 'Unfair List'

The band reported that it received a letter from Roy C. Moon of the state organization last June 16, which stated that it had received a letter from Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians "advising us that your band is on their national unfair list, and that union bands are not allowed to appear in line with your band."

The association decided, said the letter, that "therefore we must advise you that your band will not be allowed to parade in Catskill in the parade on August 22, 1947, in connection with the 75th Annual Convention of the Firemen's Association of the State of New York."

Another letter to the state association by the band stressed the passage of the Taft-Hartley law and made a bid to be allowed to parade.

Sees No T.-H. Connection

A reply from the state association emphasized the point that "our committee fails to see that

R.A. Snyder Election Is Scheduled

More Than Thousand
Firemen Are Expected to March Saturday in Annual Parade

Guests to Attend

Le Fevre, Wicks Are Among Those Who Will Be Present

Port Ewen, July 25—This metropolis of the Town of Esopus, bedecked in flags and bunting, was a beehive of activity last night for the opening of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, the 12th annual session of the organization. Approximately 1,000 were present.

Election of officers is scheduled as one of the important items tonight's business agenda, with County Clerk Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties due to step up from vice president to the presidency. Saturday the convention closes with a parade through the village.

Snyder Denies Reports

Reports emanating from his home village of Saugerties, that Mr. Snyder would decline the office because of pressing business, were denied by him today. "If I'm nominated I shall accept," he told a Freeman reporter.

Merriment was in order last night as fire fighters from every township in the county gathered for dinners, an elaborate show and swamped of friendly stories about fireman's activities in their various sectors of Ulster.

Yesterday's grand opening was devoted mainly to registration of delegates at Esopus Town Hall on Broadway, who began arriving early in the evening. He greeted by Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, honorary chairman of the convention, Wilson LeFevre, president of the convention committee and John T. Groves, town supervisor, and past president of the Ulster volunteers.

Program Tonight

Registration was handled with dispatch and those in charge of running the convention talked of today's program and the grand finale Saturday with a gigantic parade.

Convention Chairman LeFevre will call tonight's session to order at 8 o'clock in the town hall, where the program is scheduled as follows:

Invocation—The Rev. Joseph J. Conyns, C.S.S.R.
Pledge of Allegiance to Flag.
National Anthem—Miss Dorothea Groves.
Address of welcome—John T. Groves, supervisor Town of Esopus.

May Gets Prison Term; Garssons Also Sentenced

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Congressman Andrew J. May was sentenced today to a term of from eight months to two years in prison on charges of accepting $53,634.07 in bribes while he was wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

The two men accused of paying May the bribes, munitions makers Murray and Henry Garssons—also were given prison terms with a minimum of eight months and a maximum of two years.

The maximum penalty that could have been imposed on each by Judge Henry A. Schwelb was six years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

None of the defendants had anything to say to newsmen after hearing their sentences. All were released on $2,000 bail each pending appeals.

The sentencing was delayed for more than two hours while the defendant's lawyers pleaded for a new trial and May beseeched the court for mercy.

The 72-year-old former Kentucky Democratic congressman insisted that he had never taken "a single dime" dishonestly during his long service in Congress.

5,000 Workers Stay Off Job At Shipyard in Brooklyn

New York, July 25 (AP)—Approximately 5,000 workers remained off the job at the Todd shipyard in Brooklyn today while their union officials and company representatives sought to come to terms on contract provisions.

Although 4,000 workers in the Todd shipyard in nearby Hoboken, N. J., yesterday ratified an agreement boosting their hourly wage 12 cents, the Brooklyn workers turned down the company offer.

Edward J. Duffy, president of the Brooklyn yard's Local of the C.I.O. Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, said today's conference was "to get together on the disagreed portions of the agreement."

"In the meantime, our men will stay on strike," he said.

Local 39 had objected to seniority and retroactive pay terms of the agreement, which had been reached by international officers of the union and Todd officials shortly before a strike deadline set for last Wednesday midnight.

Officers of Local 15 at Hoboken said the agreement approved there contained essentially the same terms as the old contract. The Hoboken workers returned to their jobs yesterday after the ratification vote was announced.

Both the Brooklyn and Hoboken yards had halted work at midnight Wednesday.

The ranks of striking shipworkers were swelled by another 2,000 yesterday when employees of two Higgins Industries plants in New Orleans walked out. Union officials turned down a company offer of 12 cents-an-hour increase for the industrial plant and no increase for the Michoud plant. The present wage is $1.38. The plants build tugboats and pleasure craft.

Earlier yesterday, six Philadelphia ship repair firms reached tentative agreements with their 2,000 employees.

No break was reported in the deadlocked negotiations affecting Bethlehem shipyards; most of the nearly 70,000 shipyard workers who walked off the job beginning June 26 are Bethlehem employees.

Light Quakes Recorded
Los Angeles, July 25 (AP)—Three light earthquakes in the Los Angeles area and six in the San Diego district caused seismographs to jiggle in southern California yesterday but no damage was reported. The latest one was reported in San Diego at 10:20:12 p. m. (PST) and seismologist Fred Robinson said it lasted for about three and one-half minutes.

King Must Pay Cash
His Majesty, a native chief from Ngamiland, drove into J. Fendick's garage in Winburg, South Africa, and demanded gasoline for which he would pay with a check. When refused, he shouted that he was a king and drew a pistol, threatening the employees. Fendick called police who removed the royal personage.

Piers Trial Takes Recess to Monday

Prosecution Rests Case; 32 Witnesses Presented

New York, July 25 (AP)—After presenting 32 witnesses in nine days, the prosecution rested its case late yesterday in the piers scandal trial and at the request of the defense court was recessed until Monday.

The final witness for the state was Miss Julia Carroll, a tall brunette, who testified that the defendants, James V. Auditors, boss stevedore, and I. James Brody, ousted deputy commissioner of marine and aviation, together with Albert Gross, lunched daily for three months last winter at the downtown restaurant where she is a hostess.

All three men were indicted on counts of conspiracy and accepting and attempting to accept unlawful fees in the renting of city-owned piers, but Gross pleaded guilty on two counts and testified against the other two. He awaits sentence Oct. 15.

Another witness yesterday, Milton T. Bishop, acting chief dockmaster in the Department of Marine and Aviation, testified that as many as 16 piers were available on days on which the state alleged Brody had told shipowners no berthing space was available.

The state has contended that Brody denied space to the shipowners, notified Auditors, and the latter then sub-leased space at high rates.

Five Persons Hurt When Cap Explodes

New York, July 25 (AP)—Five persons were injured slightly when a dynamite detonating cap exploded as a 15-year-old boy was trying to take it apart on the porch of his Bronx home last night, police of the Williamsbridge station reported.

The boy was Anthony Bazza, of 1908 Ten Broeck avenue. Others injured were Mrs. Catherine Bazza, 50, his mother; his brothers: Vincent, 21, and Salvatore, 20, and his grandfather, Salvatore Trevisano, all of the same address.

The group was sitting on the porch, as Vincent and Young Salvatore played cards and Anthony was working with piers on the dynamite cap, which he said he found yesterday in a lot at Neill and Rhineland avenues, a block away. Suddenly the fulminate of mercury, with which the cap was charged, exploded and the five were showered with sparks and fragments of metal.

Girl, 16, Is Stabbed

New York, July 25 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Sonia Chester of Brooklyn was in a serious condition in Holy Family Hospital today of stab wounds which, police said she told them, were inflicted by a rejected suitor. Police said that Bernard Brown, 23, also of Brooklyn, told them he was "madly in love" with the girl and admitted stabbing her in the side and arm when she repeatedly turned down his marriage offer. He was charged with felonious assault and Sullivan Law violation. The alleged attack occurred Brown's automobile while the couple was parked near Prospect Park, police said.

Vaccination, Quarantine Travelers' Alternatives

Los Angeles, July 25 (AP)—Vaccination or a 14-day quarantine faced passengers and crewmen aboard a Santa Fe train due here today following removal of a Negro dining car waiter with smallpox at Clovis, N. M.

City health officers planned to board the third section of the Grand Canyon train at San Bernardino, more than an hour before it is due here at 11 a. m.

Dr. H. C. Pulley, chief assistant health officer, said instructions from the State Bureau of Preventive Medicine were to vaccinate all of the 138 persons aboard, but any who refused would be quarantined for 14 days of observation at their homes.

The railroad identified the stricken patient as Ray Thompson, 38, of Chicago. Santa Fe's physicians brought aboard serum at Clovis and invited passengers not vaccinated in the past five years to be treated.

The train includes five carloads of delegates en route to a Lions Club international convention at San Francisco.

Cottage Goes West Aboard Large Truck

Cleveland, July 25 (AP)—Anyone who has seen a cottage going west kindly communicate with Julius Z. Papp.

It is a 12 by 21 structure, ten feet high, with a gable roof, six windows and two doors, last reported westbound on De Roit avenue in the vicinity of West 117th street, aboard a large truck.

It was standing on skids in the lot next to a house Papp owns on West 45th street. He bought it for $1,500, moved it in from Berea Road, and planned to add a room and maybe sell or rent it.

Yesterday in broad daylight two men drove up, hooked on a winch, dragged the cottage aboard the truck and drove out De Roit avenue, said a neighbor girl, Margaret Yonta, 15.

Last night Papp went out the avenue asking people whether they had seen his cottage going by. As far as 117th street he found people who believed him, because they had seen it.

Beyond that, Papp had to give up.

C.I.O. Pledges Aid For 7,000 Strikers At Murray Plant

Detroit, July 25 (AP)—The 7,000 strikers at the Murray Corp. of America's auto parts plants were pledged the "full resources" of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers Union today.

U.A.W. President Walter P.

Reuther, citing "fundamental principles" of the dispute, voiced the international union's support in a letter to management.

Issues in the strike, now in its third day, relate directly to the Taft-Hartley Labor Law and reorganization of the National Labor Relations Board.

Striking U.A.W.-C.I.O. Local 2 demands a contract clause protecting it from financial liability suits permitted under the new law. The local also seeks a provision which would not require that a dispute be carried to the N.R.L.B. Both demands are in line with C.I.O. policy in drafting new contracts.

Reuther, writing to President Clarence W. Avery of Murray Corp., said the proposed provisions were "proper and legal" and represented "common practice" in the general field of labor-management contracts.

The U.A.W. chief took exception to what he said were attempts to portray the union demands as "illegal" or "in defiance of the law." State and federal mediators today sought a method for ending the strike in conferences with company and union officials. Contract negotiations were broken off Tuesday night.

State Department Squelches Report On Allied Zones

Patterson Says Story Is Mainly True; Thinks It Not Unduly Critical

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, retiring secretary of war, says the State Department has overruled a War Department proposal to make public a new report on economic conditions in the American and British zones of Germany.

The report was prepared by Robert Moses, New York city planner, who made a study of the conditions in Germany at the request of the War Department. Patterson was asked at a farewell news conference about a New York Herald Tribune story which described the Moses report as "embarrassing" and said the State Department was blocking its publication. He replied:

"In the main, the story is true. Mr. Moses went over there at our request and gave us a report. The report was informative and I thought it should be released. The State Department differed with me. In these matters, of course, we're only agents of the State Department."

The Herald Tribune, in its account, said the State Department feared that publication would "embitter the Anglo-American wrangle on how to set things right" in Germany.

Asked specifically whether he thought the Moses report was embarrassing to the British, Patterson replied:

"I didn't think it unduly critical. In fact, it was just as critical as us."

Later on in the conference, Patterson was asked whether he expected an immediate change from army to State Department control over occupation zones in Germany, Japan and Korea. He answered that he did not "look for any immediate change."

Union, Bus Operators Agree to Arbitration

New York, July 25 (AP)—After seven hours of negotiations at City Hall yesterday, union representatives and Queens bus operators agreed to resubmit to arbitration questions of wages and working conditions.

Julius Kass, counsel of the city's division of labor relations who presided at the discussions, said that Mayor O'Dwyer will name an impartial chairman today and that hearings will start on Monday.

Arbitration of questions in dispute between Locals 1179 and 1104, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (A.F.L.), and Green Bus Lines and Triboro Coach Corporation came to an end last Friday and a strike lasting four days followed.

The arbitration ended in a dispute involving the impartial chairman, former Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel, whose resignation from the board was announced by the mayor Wednesday.

Boy Dies of Burns

Ridgewood, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Six-year-old Thomas Schleisner, one of two boys who became living torches when another's experiment went awry, died early today. Leo Klein, 9, was in critical condition. Police said Robert Carmine, 13, told them he was heating a thermometer with an alcohol burner to make the mercury rise when there was an explosion. The younger boys, standing nearby to watch, were sprayed with flaming alcohol and were burned over most of their bodies. Police said they took no action against the Carmine boy.

Zing, comes the swing to your sweetheart

How's that Buick sweetheart of yours? Still giving out with that eager Fireball power surge at a toe-touch? Still answering every light finger-touch on the wheel?

Most likely you'll answer, "It's doing very nicely, thank you." But years have a way of whittling away at performance—sometimes so slowly you don't notice it.

So you can be in for a whopping surprise.

Just wheel your car into our shop and treat it to some real Buick care. The kind that comes from men who are truly fond of Buicks—who know what they can do and like to bring out all their oomph and go.

Let these men of ours test and tune your Buick with their special Buick tools. Let them replace anything that's worn with the right Buick-engineered part. Then, ZING, back comes the swing to your sweetheart.

Job for job, Buick car care costs no more than ordinary service. So, what's to lose? Come in to us whether it's for a tune-up, major or minor repair or regular lubrication. Your car rates it.

GEOMETRY? Ugh! But here it means Extra Comfort

Buicks take turns without swing or sway. This means more comfort and less fatigue every mile you travel. Credit that to the geometry of Buick front-wheel suspension.

The wheels are designed to bank slightly on curves—the inside wheel turns a degree or two sharper than the outside one. And they're hung at an angle that lets them give slightly to cushion road shocks.

So good Buick front-wheel service is a job for men who know Buick front-wheel action—who have Buick-approved checking equipment—who have at hand any needed Buick-engineered parts.

Another example of why Buick care keeps Buicks best. Whether it's for wheel alignment or any other attention, bring your car to us.

RUMOR MONGERS

The Mutual Association of Rumor Mongers seems to have been revived in this city. Dormant for some time this outfit of tongue waggers appears to have made a comeback with renewed vigor.

Waves of rumors, without foundation or basis of fact, crop up now and then and are propagated by these wisecracks, who enjoy hearing the flapping of their mouths. These rumors which never have the slightest bit of proof or evidence, when passed along the line of eager listeners are magnified and distorted at every re-telling. With variations these rumors cover a long and wide range and they grow with viciousness with each repetition. These distortions of fact are for the irresponsible who are always anxious to hear them and to spread them as quickly as possible.

Sometimes these rumors, which are spread recklessly, are accepted in good faith by the gullible, especially when they come from "influential sources". But by far and large rumors are taken lightly by the majority and are never passed on without positive proof that they are true. The original misinformers always has the "inside dope".

There would be little joy left in life for the rumor monger, if there was an effective law against the spreading of misinformation. The spreading of false rumors should be suppressed.

Some Southern politicians are reported to be asking that the Democratic national conventions re-enact the old rule requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate. Their idea is that then the South, acting as a unit, could with a little outside help have a veto on party proceedings.

MOLOTOV PLAN

David M. Nichol, writing from Berlin, says that many signs show that, besides refusing to go in with other nations in considering General Marshall's program, the Russians are setting up counter-proposals for the sections of Europe where their influence is strong.

Revised schedules for reparations as well as food and coal from Poland will figure in these proposals. Trade relations between England and Russia have been broken off, and at the same time, new negotiations for trade are being worked out between Czechoslovakia and Russia. The program of the Russians is constantly being bolstered up by attacks in Russian-sponsored German newspapers.

It is clear that nothing that has happened in the course of the relationship between Russia and the rest of the United Nations has been spontaneous. The delays, the refusals to compromise, and finally the outright break over the Marshall plan, all begin to look like part of a long-term plan for Russian world-domination.

Flying speeds have been developed at which a pilot, for all we know, can neither see nor stay upright. So says John Nicholas Brown, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for air. The pilot is thus totally at the mercy of his plane.

This sounds like some of the automobile drivers to be seen any Sunday.

DIVIDED CITY

The city of Goerlitz in Russian-occupied Germany has been cut in two, says David M. Nichol, an American correspondent there. At Yalta, where the borderline was decided on, it seemed theoretically suitable to have it follow the Oder and the Neisse Rivers. In practice, it works out that the city of 90,000 people is half German and half Polish.

On one side lie the farm lands which would normally feed the city, on the other side the industrial and residential zone. Traffic between the two is possible only over an automobile bridge, the railroad bridge being down. To cross requires a Polish visa, Russian military permission, and Soviet approval. With all this to do each time, it is small wonder that traffic is thin. Water supply is on one side, gas on the other, and a plumber must have both Berlin's and War-

THE RECESSION

On November 29, 1945, Henry Wallace, as Secretary of Commerce, was reported to have predicted that 7,000,000 would be unemployed in 1946. That did not happen in 1946 or 1947. This country now enjoys full employment.

A month before that the Economists of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction predicted 8,000,000 unemployed by the Spring of 1946. They were wrong.

On October 30, 1945, President Truman issued an Executive Order in which he said that wages can be raised substantially without raising prices. He said: "Industry as a whole can afford substantial wage increases because of the elimination of war and a half for overtime 'has reduced labor costs per hour,' the number of jobs on the labor market 'is resulting in a downward reclassification of jobs,' and higher technical efficiency makes for 'increased output per hour of work.' Wages have since risen.

Henry Wallace revealed a "confidential" report in his Department of Commerce to the effect that industry can raise wages 10 per cent in 1946, the automobile industry, in particular, 15 per cent in 1946 and an additional 10 per cent in 1947, without raising prices. The report also estimated car production at 3,500,000 in 1946, 4,500,000 in 1947. Of course, none of this happened just this way.

The report proved to be a fake.

Apparently all this was part of a plan that has been employed since with regularity to scare the American people that a frightful recession was in the offing. For on August 15, John W. Snyder, then War Mobilization Director, joined by Economic Stabilization Director William H. Davis, Price Administrator Chester Bowles, W.P.B. Director Julius A. Krug, and War Manpower Commission's Paul McNutt, broadcast from the White House that the "nation will undergo the shock of considerable, but temporary unemployment" but that it will not have "long periods of mass unemployment." That did not happen.

William H. Davis gave another reason for raising wages without increasing prices, namely, that it must be done to pay the national debt. He added that better wages do not result in direct price increases because higher labor costs are absorbed by other production factors. That did not happen.

By December 11, 1945, the Steel Strike was called which set off a prolonged series of strikes that produced increased wages, increased prices, delayed reconversion, continued shortages and culminated in the Taft-Hartley Bill.

So on February 14, 1946, the President reversed himself, permitting price adjustments to meet wage increases, starting an inflationary spiral which fortunately has not yet got out of hand. Paul A. Porter pledged to hold the price line "until the tide of production has eliminated the threat of inflation." That has not happened yet.

Marvin S. Eccles, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, added the comment on February 25 that wage rises are justified only when they can be met out of profits without increasing prices—which, of course, is not so. Wages are a cost of production. Eccles' views were refuted by Chester Bowles, which made it funny. Bowles was then assuring the American people by the constant threat of inflation, if the O.P.A. were permitted, that it killed or it would be waited to live without him. And all the time he was shouting "inflation!" this O.P.A. was authorizing price increases. He was supported by Paul Porter, who conceived the idea on March 21 that while prices will be adjusted upward, the cost of living will remain the same, which may mean something.

This little history is worth repeating because whereas in the Roosevelt Administration the people were constantly being frightened by emergencies, in the Truman Administration it is the scare of recession, inflation, unemployment. They began talking that way in August, 1945. The British and the Russians have speculated about the forthcoming (I nearly wrote, proposed) American recession as though it were inevitable. The President's excuse for vetoing tax bills is that the government must have funds to meet a presumptive recession.

It is now two years that the President, Henry Wallace, government officials, professors, experts, Russians and Britishers have been trying to wish a recession on us. Let's forget the whole thing and start again. This country seems not to want a recession.

That Body of Yours

SHORTSIGHTEDNESS

It has been found that some children, who appear to be "backward" at school have some defect of eyesight or hearing; when the defect has been corrected their progress is normal for their age.

One of the defects which may alarm parents is shortsightedness which looms large in their minds and may interfere with the progress of the child mentally and physically. In the "Canadian Medical Journal," Dr. A. Lloyd Morgan, surgeon-in-chief, Eye Department, Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, states that there are many mistaken ideas about shortsightedness or myopia, as it is known in medicine.

From surveys and investigations, Dr. Morgan believes that myopia is not a disease of the eye but a normal process of development. After mentioning at least a dozen theories as to the cause of shortsightedness, he states that shortsightedness is caused by the shape of the eyeball. In shortsightedness the eyeball is too short and in shortsightedness it is too long.

Because no disease is present and shortsightedness is simply due to a long eyeball, the following advice is timely. "The shortsighted child should not be considered to have a terrible eye disease and the parents should not be told that he may become blind. True shortsightedness is merely an eye with a refractive error which can be corrected. The child should not be treated as an invalid."

Unfortunately, in past years and even today, some eye specialists, if the child shows evidences of shortsightedness, stop all reading, the child is taken out of school for a year, and must avoid all sports. While this method stops the shortsightedness in 50 per cent of cases, Dr. Morgan points out that allowing the youngster to continue school and correcting his vision stopped the progress of shortsightedness in 70 per cent of nearly 500 cases observed in private practice and in an eye clinic.

Further, a youngster that is taken out of school is told not to read or engage in sports, will develop an eye-invald complex besides withdrawing himself and missing all the benefit of group games, which is the greatest factor in preventing odd behavior or other mental symptoms. Where shortsightedness is a symptom of actual eye disease, the disease causing it must be treated.

POLICY TOWARD GERMANY CHANGING

American and British administrations are gradually waking up to the fact that there is nothing to gain by making Germany a future enemy.

Two years before war ended Stalin realized this and began organizing German prisoners of war from privates to generals, hoping to use them in capturing the friendship and cooperation of post-war Germany. His agents promptly Soviet support in preserving Germany as a nation and the prisoners' only hope was to play ball with Russia.

The German army in Russia now reportedly numbers close to 300,000 officers and men. On it rests Stalin's principal hopes of capturing a nation and some critical moment when Britain and the United States will be unable or unwilling to intervene. Doubtless the plan would be to send this army into western Germany, capture a city and set up a pro-German government of all-Germans which the British and the United States would recognize and actively aid.

Austria, Italy, Sweden and Turkey may be on the list ahead of Germany—all perhaps hinging on results of the effort to capture Greece. But Germany is on the list, we may be sure, and if a Red army once stands on the Rhine and another on the Franco-Italian border the rest of Europe will rush to Moscow bearing gifts.

Even Britain will not recognize a crown of German's and might be suspected of having known us at some time in her past.

I do not concede that Russia could permanently hold an empire of 600,000,000 or more peoples, of a hundred different races and creeds already suffering from indigestion.

But it is absurd that we, for no gain other than revenge, should continue to drive the German people toward the Red east.

Increase Steel Production

From time to time for over a year I have reported in this column the vengeful Morgenthau plan, the infiltration of our occupation forces and our military administration of persons friendly to that plan, the bungling and shortsightedness of many acts and policies in the government of all three zones of southern and western Germany. Instead of restoring the German people to a normal process of development, after mentioning at least a dozen theories as to the cause of shortsightedness, he states that shortsightedness is caused by the shape of the eyeball. In shortsightedness the eyeball is too short and in shortsightedness it is too long.

Because no disease is present and shortsightedness is simply due to a long eyeball, the following advice is timely. necessity of signing a peace with Germany—even if it must be a "separate peace." Hence the sudden revival of talk of setting up a loosely centralized federation of German states. Even if Russia kept the padlock on the curtain around eastern Germany, such a federation could be recognized by us as representing the whole of Germany.

This step would be a tremendous diplomatic and economic triumph for the western nations. As former President Hoover apparently believed, it will be necessary before Europe can fully recover.

That Britain likewise is waking up to the importance of bringing Germany back into the Western civilization is indicated by an address delivered recently by Lord Pakenham, British minister in charge of occupational affairs, to leaders of German youth groups in Düsseldorf.

Lord Pakenham was quoted by the London Daily Mail as having told these youth leaders, "You are right to be proud of being Germans. Something other than we must break down all the bitterness and all the hatreds that may have grown up in the past and gradually make the war a vile memory that will finally be eliminated."

Boy Save Own Life

Resourcefulness saved the life of Rixon, a "skin diving" boy in the Torres Strait pearling fleet, off the Australian coast, Auckland reports. When his leg was seized by a man-eating shark, Rixon plunged his two thumbs into the shark's eyes and escaped to the dinghy aloft. He was bleeding so severely however, that it seemed he would surely die from his wounds, lacking anything from which a ligature could be made. Rixon promptly plunged his leg into a sack of flour and the clotting dough stanching the blood flow.

Business Failures
Increase in State

Albany, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—A "rising volume" of business failures in New York is reported by the State Commerce Department.

The department says, however, that improvement of business stability in the state since 1938 "has been considerably greater" than in the rest of the country.

The department's monthly Commerce Review said yesterday that 1946 business failures in New York were 4.1 per cent of those in 1939, whereas in the country they averaged 7.7 per cent.

Although business failures have increased this year, the 172 reported in the state for the first four months of 1947, were at a rate of 1.1 per cent of the 1939 figures, while the federal rate was 20 per cent.

"The flood of failures predicted to follow last year's record breaking increase in small businesses has not materialized," the Review said, "but the rising volume of business failures with lower average liabilities indicates that liquidation of the more vulnerable new businesses has begun."

"Any general decline in business activity may be expected to take its toll among young concerns."

Administration Is Amused Over Way Taft-Hartley Majority Has Been Out-Maneuvered

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 25—There is a good deal of chuckling in the administration circles over the way the two-thirds majority which enacted the Taft-Hartley law has been outmaneuvered.

Waiting till the last few days of Congress when it seemed certain there would be a disinclination to block any nominations, President Truman appointed as the two additional members of the National Labor Relations board one man who is supposed to be friendly to management but who is not rated as big enough for the job, and another man who is the known champion of the labor-union boss.

Former Senator Murdock of Utah, who owed his election to the upper House largely to the political activity of labor unions, is well liked by members of the Senate in the "senatorial club" sense and it was the belief of the administration that of course, the Senate would not turn down one of its own members.

But the question that has arisen is not personal at all. It is whether the majority in the Senate are going to close their eyes to the fact that Mr. Truman has appointed a labor-union partisan whose record in the House of Representatives and in the Senate showed clearly that he has been unsympathetic with the major provisions of the new labor law. It is not generally known but those who follow legislative matters know that the principal sections of the Taft-Hartley law were proposed by Representative Howard Smith, Democrat of Virginia in 1940 and 1941 and that Mr. Smith was chairman of a committee which investigated the Wagner law as have been given by President Truman in his veto message and by labor-union pronouncements.

There would be more logic, according to some explanations from senators on Capitol Hill, in appointing either John L. Lewis or William Green to the new Labor Board. At least they would represent the labor-union viewpoint forthrightly, though, to be sure, Congress did not intend to divide up the board's membership with a certain number of partisans of management and labor respectively.

If the Senate confirms the new nominees it will not have another chance to review its action, and the damage will have been done. Mr. Truman gave Mr. Murdock a five year appointment so that he could not be detached from the board in the event that a Republican president comes into power.

It is a curious turn of events which finds all the work of the members of the House and Senate who favored a change in our labor-management law brought into jeopardy through a "count packing" device. This is because interpretations of the statute are about to be placed in the hands of a majority on the board who are fundamentally out of sympathy with what Congress has done, those who publicly claim they will do everything they can to interpret it impartially.

Persons who start with a pre-conceived prejudice cannot win the trust of those who seek justice from them. It is a tragic misuse of public power and a flat contradiction of the President's pledge to the people. Those who are appointing for the two vacancies a labor-union partisan and a fifth member who has scarcely been heard of in labor-management circles, Senator Lewis of New York, who is an expert in labor relations and who conducted a legislative inquiry for the New York legislature on labor problems, is reported to have never heard of the appointee from his state chosen by Mr. Truman, namely J. Copeland Gray.

Will the members of the Senate surrender at the last minute to senatorial courtesy, and be made ridiculous or will they do or act until the next session when there will be more time, perhaps in the autumn, to give full consideration to the qualifications of the new members? It is taken for granted that the new general counsel will be confirmed. Then, with the three existing members of the board, the work of interpreting the law can go on anyway. If the nominations of the additional two members are not acted upon at this session of Congress, (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES JOB HUNTING

Gloucester, Mass., July 25—With a possible 10,000,000 unemployed by 1952 unless labor relations get straightened out, both schools and parents should begin now to make graduates worth employing. Certainly, there then will be keen competition for whatever jobs there may be. Youth people now in high schools should make up their minds to put work before play and get out the social stuff which is making too many of them useless for driving trucks and jerking soda.

Simple Economics

Business expects the schools to equip our men and women with an adequate background of the historical, psychological and economic forces which have produced our nation. Our young people should also be given a background of the many "isms." With such a background students should understand the merits and benefits which our free society has to offer. However, the school cannot do much unless backed up by sensible table talk and religious instruction at home.

"Our nation can long prosper without the proper incentive, progress and efficiency. This causes a continuous improvement in the standard of living and security for all producers. When people produce more, business thrives, national income increases, standards of living rise, and our country prospers. It is the understanding of these basic factors, including some real religion, which our homes and schools should teach. These include emphasis on that simple economic fact that only as we all produce more is there more to divide.

Schools Shortchanging Pupils

Schools today are shortchanging pupils. Youngsters are being shoved out into an ever increasing competitive world with inadequate training in the fundamentals of reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, self-expression, etc. Too many of our young people knocking on the employment manager's door are unable to do relatively simple mathematical tasks. These are basic tools of work, rather than the useless frills which schools now teach.

It is not the accumulation of vast amounts of factual material that makes a young person employable. Rather it is his character, his health, his desire to be of service and his ability to work with others. Schools are shortchanging students by their failure to teach how to work and live, how to get and hold good jobs. Schools should spend much more time in both group and individual counseling to help students better understand themselves, their interests and their aptitudes.

Schools Shortchanging Vocationally

With 29,744 different jobs listed in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, schools of this Atomic Age should offer systematic courses in vocational information, get their students out on field trips, make greater use of occupational films, part-time experiences, etc. Most important of all, young people should be taught the dignity of working and the disgrace of loafing.

To teachers, I say: "Get to know your student more than from just grades." Prepare him for job interviews. Make sure a student understands his own balance sheet of assets and liabilities. Teach him how to sell himself on the interview. Schools should have students realize that personal qualifications such as incentive, resourcefulness, adaptability, and willingness to assume responsibility are more important than joining a union to assure success.

Parents Should Wake Up

Get the best training of all for getting a good position after graduation is to work summers. Whether or not your boy and girl does this is up to you—and not to any teacher. In some states boys and girls must get the okay of the superintendent of schools, but this always is obtainable if you as a parent request it. Parents who let their children run around or loaf all summer are committing a crime against them.

Too many parents have to make their demands and Johnnie get a job because their friends do so. Work. Instead of being content to listen to speeches, Parent-Teacher Associations should urge parents to refuse to give spending money or loan the car to kids who loaf summers or who fail in their studies. It is not now too late for parents to get tough this summer.

1,000 Firemen Eat

After registration of delegates last night, there was feasting at the Reformed Church and Methodist Church halls, where approximately 1,000 men ate Virginia baked ham, mashed potatoes and all the "fixins" prepared and served by the ladies' auxiliaries of the two congregations, augmented by the fire auxiliary, Ethel Sleight was in charge of the banquet at the Methodist Church and Florence Cunningham at the Reformed hall.

After the dinners, the town hall began to team with activity as volunteers took their seats for a two-hour stage show, featuring seven head-line vaudeville acts from New York city.

Firemen Crowd Port Ewen Hall

There were no vacant seats in the Town Auditorium at Port Ewen last night for the opening of the 12th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. Feature of the evening was a seven-act stage show, presenting New York entertainers. Esopus Town Supervisor John T. Groves said the capacity of the hall was 725, but at least 300 more firemen either stood, or tried to get into the building. (Ken Roosa Photo) tainers in his field ever seen hereabouts; Beryl Cull, petite, acrobatic dancer and contortionist; Eleanor Dale, comedienne; Lee Mains, story teller with a wealth of humor and master of ceremonies; Arica, who danced as a Mexican "sonorita" but turned out to be a husky voiced impersonator, and Eunice Jason, statuette Broadway Butterfly, who pleased with her interpretation of the dance of the cherry blossoms.

Accompaniment for the show was furnished by Ted Riccoboni's orchestra—Julius Teller, Leo Mosher, Fred Fahenrick and Tommy Bashall.

Previous to the show, Convention Chairman LeFevre welcomed the firemen in the name of companies from the town of Esopus, hosts for the big celebration—Port Ewen, St. Remy, Esopus, Rifton and Connelly.

Supervisor Groves Speaks

During his brief speech of welcome, he introduced the various committees responsible for success of the convention and called upon Supervisor John T. Groves, who referred to the town of Esopus and its people as hospitable folk who do things right.

Supervisor Groves has been vitally interested in the convention since it was designated for Port Ewen, not alone because of his official capacity in the town, but because he's a past president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen, having served as head of the organization 10 years ago.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston addressed the gathering, limiting his remarks to instructions on fire prevention plans throughout the country during the convention.

"In case of fire in communities whose apparatus is at the convention, folks should call Kingston 981 and the mutual aid system will take care of the emergency," he said. The chief added that trucks would be dispatched to their town stations by radio message.

Chief Merrill of Poughkeepsie was introduced, also Seth Cole, attorney for the fireman group; W. Frank of Poughkeepsie, George Ohley of Saugerties, D. V. Z. Bogert of New Paltz, Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, and Joseph Zoda, town superintendent of highways, who cooperated by loaning trucks and men for convention preparations.

pavement can be started as soon as possible next year.

Most of the small bridges and culverts along the route are expected to be completed during the fall and winter.

To Increase Crew

The small crew of men which began work on the project July 21, will be increased gradually as wither phases of the work are started, but the engineer was unable to say how many men would be employed on the road when the work is in full progress.

Plans for the reconstruction of the road under provisions of the contract at the time of its letting earlier this month, call for extension of the four-lane highway from where it now ends in West Hurley to the intersection of the Woodstock road.

24-Foot Highway

The highway from that point will be 24 feet in width, or a two lane road to Cold Brook. Only about two-thirds of the present alignment will be retained.

Start of the project before the end of this month indicated that the contractor lost no time in getting on the job after final approval of the contract by the state department.

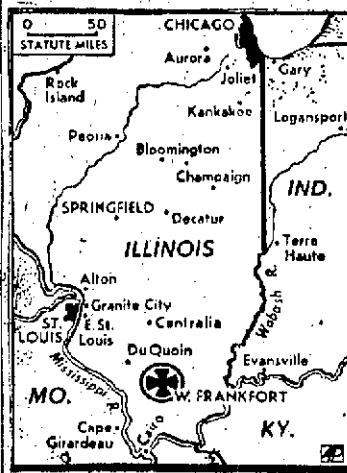

It was announced at the time the contract was let that it takes about 20 days for final clearance. The state department announced that the contract had been let on or about July 1.

The $1,697,256.75 bid of the Binghamton company was considerably under the $1,705,000 estimate of the state engineer on the project.

fort, was one of the first at the scene and learned that her husband, Arthur, 27, was among the miners trapped. She was taken to a hospital after she collapsed but later returned and was at the mine when her husband's body was brought to the surface.

Dr. R. W. Smith, chief surgeon at the U.M.W. Hospital, said the injured miners told him the explosion occurred in an air circulation cut called the thirteenth east cross cut. Scores of the miners who fell from the diggings after telephoned instructions from the surface said they did not know there had been an explosion.

William W. Lamont, manager of the U.M.W. Hospital, said the injured miners told him that dust ignited by a spark from a motor caused the explosion, and a fire followed.

Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois, in Chicago yesterday, preparatory to leaving for a brief vacation in California, postponed the trip and drove 350 miles to the scene of the disaster.

Green named Walker, state mine inspector following the disaster at Centralia and a subsequent investigation. The No. 8 mine was last inspected on May 9 and "conformed to all state mine safety regulations, the State Mines and Minerals Department said.

Farmers in central Australia seem to have done wonders with "666," the new insecticide, Gamexane, Adelaide reports. In soil application, mixed with superphosphate, it has combated the black beetle which was threatening corn crops on the coastal areas of New South Wales, and the gray backed beetle which was damaging sugar crops. Used from planes, it has conquered grasshoppers on grasslands, registering a 98 per cent kill.

Albany Man Snaps Pole in Crash; Is Unhurt as Car Upsets

It would seem that Lake Katrine air is conducive to sleep, judging from reports on the records of the State Police there.

The troopers reported today that Harry Plinter of Albany dozed at the wheel early this morning and that his car ran off the road, crashing against a pole that snapped at the base.

Shortly after midnight on Saturday, July 12, William H. Ogden of Troy lost control of his car as he fell asleep, according to the State Police, and his car ran right across the lawn of the barracks.

Plinter, riding alone, told the troopers he dozed at the wheel, when they asked him about his crash that took place about 5:20 a. m. today, 200 feet south of their station.

The car turned over on its side, but Plinter escaped injury.

Ogden was alone, too, when his accident happened, and ran over the lawn, doing a man on the flying trapeze, turn as his auto went into the air for a 73-foot distance before landing back on its wheels.

The Troy man suffered lacerations of the forehead and scalp in his mishap.

Festival Would

heated attempts have been made to restore the event. The group which met last night, however, set up a sound and workable program which it was said, would culminate in a festival embodying most of the traditional features of the earlier events.

Historic Folk Festival
The fame of the Maverick Festival spread through the years to many corners of the world and, basically, it was made one of the most colorful events, because of the imagination and ingenuity displayed by the artists. Gay, zany scenes were worn, revues were staged, the affair was a huge outdoor picnic and usually it lasted all night. In a word, it was a folk festival which became historic.

It was decided last night that artists and art students, musicians, writers, Woodstock residents and their friends would be invited to attend and to provide the informal entertainment associated with such rustic festivals. A huge picnic will take place and all those attending will be requested to come in costume. Various musical features as well as the personal appearances of noted members of the creative set will be asked to appear in a beautifully designed outdoor revue.

It is expected that present and former Maverick residents as well as many others who have taken part in earlier festivals will lend their advice and support to the successful staging of the 1947 Hervey White Maverick Festival.

Success Is Assured
Many Woodstock people remember the late Hervey White as a vital and helpful person. In reviving the Maverick Festival, it is felt that this is the kind of memorial White himself would have approved. The Maverick Festivals which were started in 1935 were a success and a success was made of them. There was much that was humorous, much that was beautiful and much that was highly interesting. People from every creative art and craft contributed toward making these occasions successful. For many years, Hervey White derived considerable income from the festivals. This money he promptly spent to provide housing and sometimes food and working materials to struggling artists who lived on the Maverick.

Those who are now undertaking to revive the old celebrations have allotted the proceeds to various organizations which for the most part represent the same things which Hervey White was trying to further during his life.

Le Clare Captured

Several persons in that locality reported a man of LeClair's description and State Police from that area and also the Ulster county Troopers began a search.

The officers began closing in with reports first coming in that the man had been seen an hour previously at a certain point. The officers gradually closed in on LeClair and finally located him along the railroad where he was captured and returned to the Wallkill authorities.

Joseph Robideau, 23, of Saranac Lake who escaped with LeClair is still at large. Authorities believe he may have been involved in the taking of a car which was discovered missing from Walden shortly after the Wallkill break was reported.

But he said some other extraordinary powers must be retained for a time, and announced that he has asked Attorney General Clark to continue his studies on the ending of the remaining war statutes.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 25 (AP)—A few special oil stocks and other industrial stocks continued to make headway today although light selling put brakes on many market leaders.

Propping bullish sentiment was another batch of good earnings and dividends, persistence of inflationary psychology and business optimism. The lengthy drive to new highs for the past year, however, inspired some cautious liquidation on the thought that a technical correction could not be far away. Foreign affairs and the long-term export outlook provided restraints.

The pace slowed after a speedy opening and the direction was a trifle cloudy near the fourth hour. Tops for 1947 were registered by American Smelting, Pacific Western Oil, Skelly Oil, International Silver and E. W. Bliss, Brooklyn.

Union Gas was buoyed by the granting of a temporary gas rate increase. Ahead at intervals were Conn Products, American Radiator, Phelps Dodge, duPont, Owens-Illinois, Santa Fe and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Backward most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, United Aircraft, American Telephone, International Nickel, Kennecott, American Can, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Bonds were mixed and commodities lower.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WOMAN, YES—MAN, NO!

Can it really be improper for a woman to take the jacket off her suit off when dining in public? This question is asked by a woman whose husband tells her: "Men are not supposed to take off their coats and therefore, any rule making it possible for a woman to be more comfortable is unfair."

A woman takes off her coat not because her coat is too warm but because her blouse is designed especially for beauty whereas a man's shirt isn't. In other words, a woman's blouse is rated as the waist part of her dress. A man's shirt is rated as a garment worn under his coat the same as his waistcoat. There are plenty of occasions today in the country when it is proper for a man to go about in a polo shirt or other sport shirt. In fact, it is required that he put his coat on only at a formally-set table as well as on all formal occasions.

Party Not Necessarily Given

Dear Mrs. Post: I always have thought that it was the bride's family or one of her relatives who gave a party of some sort either before or after the rehearsal. But lately I have noticed an increasing number of instances where the man's family gave this party. Is there any rule?

Answer: Anyone may give the party who feels like it—a member of either family or even an intimate friend. As a matter of fact, giving any party at all is not a definite obligation.

Why Hats?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am told that it will be unnecessary in warm weather for the men in my wedding to wear gloves with their morning clothes or ever hats to come and go to church. What is your opinion on this?

Answer: Unless the weather is really torrid and the wedding is in the country, gloves are very important. They are, of course, not seen by anyone since they are taken off at the church door and their sole object is to keep the men's hair in place.

Do you know what kind of paper should be used for social purposes—the size, shape, quality and color? These are some of the many questions answered by Mrs. Post in her booklet No. 502, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"What a handsome dog!" That's music to the ears of any proud owner! And it's tribute, too, to your pet's excellent care. For nothing is so indicative of good treatment as a beautiful coat.

Three factors contribute to a dog's healthy appearance: balanced diet, clean sleeping quarters and, above all, daily grooming with brush and comb.

Different kinds of brushes require different types of brushes and combs. Ask a reputable dealer or breeder about the most suitable implement for your dog. The wrong brush or comb can cause irreparable damage to your dog's coat and cause him much discomfort, besides. Generally speaking, stay away from wire-bristled or steel-bristled brushes.

Busy Hands Reflect Good Grooming

Career Women Pamper
Fingers With Oil, Polish.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Hands can plunge into the thick of things and still be models of good grooming. Examples are to be found in the well-kept hands of women who work, often at two jobs. We cite some whose hands even take a beating from those jobs.

Take Ray Shaw. This sculptress, whose specialty is modeling other people's hands, works with plaster which is drying to skin, with clay and patinas which are soiling. Miss Shaw must wear her nails short.

What her nails lack in length, they make up for in polished perfection. This sculptress says a light rosy polish is more flattering to working hands than dark, sultry shades.

To clean up her hands Miss Shaw washes them as thoroughly as a doctor does—a routine which she maintains is the key to their good grooming. With her the faithful use of an oil-replenishing cream is a habit which pays off, she says, in soft, supple skin.

Next, take Helen Jepson's hands. To see her cream-smooth beauties gesture before a glittering audience, you'd never think that the hands of this concert singer ever wrestled with pots and pans. Yet this wife, mother and homemaker does much of her own housework. She also does her own nails. And boasts: "I'm getting to be an expert at putting on nail polish."

Miss Jepson says that cream rubbed around nails and cuticles, when hands are creamed, makes the home manicure easier.

The hands of Sally Victor, famed millinery stylist, also cook for her family on the maid's day off. Despite the demands a many-faceted millinery business makes of her hands, Mrs. Victor claims she has never been caught wearing run-down polish.

"Frayed coats," she says, "have as demoralizing an effect upon me as a run in my stocking."

Soaking her hands in a warm oily bath twice a week, she claims, keeps both skin and nails looking fresher for days afterward. If bathed in oil, nails are less apt to snap off, says Mrs. Victor, who thinks long tips look more glamorous.

Another pair of working hands groomed to make light of their labors belongs to dress-designer

Emily Wilkens. Cream counteracts the drying effect of fabrics on her hands; pumice grazes off dye-coloring that stains her nails.

Nightly touch-ups before going to bed, says Miss Wilkens, can keep nails looking impeccably dressed between weekly manicures, even if work chips at red coats every day.

Manning Protests

Marriages of Two Divorced Persons

Retired Bishop Sends Note to Episcopal Magazine

Outlining Views
on Matter

New York, July 25 (AP)—Bishop William T. Manning, in a letter in the current issue of "The Living Church," has protested the fact that the first wife of Elliott Roosevelt was permitted to marry a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The Bishop of the diocese of New York also protested the fact that the Very Rev. Kirk B. O'Ferrall, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, was allowed to marry a divorced woman.

In his letter, Bishop Manning asked whether the action in the two dioceses concerned meant "we are now to have a number of ecclesiastical Renos, and the consequent abolition of any Christian standards of marriage, in the church."

Bishop Manning's letter did not mention the names of the two brides and bridegrooms or of the two bishops who gave their consent to the marriages, but he did specify the names of the two dioceses, Michigan and Lexington, Ky.

Canon Thomas A. Sparks, pastor of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, acting as spokesman for Bishop Manning, confirmed yesterday, however, that the marriages to which the bishop referred were those of the first wife of Elliott Roosevelt to the Rev. Benedict Henry Hanson of Baltimore, and the wedding of Dean O'Ferrall to Mrs. Isabelle W. Morrill, 30, who was a member of the choir of the Detroit Cathedral.

Bishops Are Identified

The bishops are the Right Rev. William Robert Moody, head of the diocese of Lexington, Ky., who officiated at the marriage of the former Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, whose second marriage to Curt Winsor also ended in divorce; and the Right Rev. Frank W. Creighton, head of the diocese of Michigan, who gave his permission for the marriage of the dean of his cathedral.

The third marriage of Elliott Roosevelt's first wife, the former Elizabeth Donner, took place in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Lexington, Ky., June 11 and was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner, from their home at Palm Beach, Fla.

The marriage of Dean O'Ferrall took place July 5 at St. Alban's Episcopal Church in Highland Park, a suburb of Detroit.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 25—Edward Adsit of Napanoch attended O. S. Baptist Church services here Sunday. Both Elder H. Bellows of West Hurley and Elder Amasa Slawson of Kingston were present at this meeting.

Abram Osterhout, who moved from Phoenix to the Joseph D. Witt cottage on the north boulevard several weeks ago, has employment at Chalet Indian, Boiceville. Mr. Osterhout is a brother of Mrs. Grant Avery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Friedman and daughter of New York are spending some time with Mrs. J. Friedman at the latter's summer quarters near the viaduct.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adels of Ashokan have announced the marriage of their son, Eric Carl Adels, to Miss Dottie VanWagoner of Kingston. Private Adels is stationed with an air forces unit at the Roswell army base in New Mexico.

Recent callers in the village included Mr. and Mrs. Chris McGrath, a Peekskill couple who were on their way home from a trip to Niagara Falls. Mr. McGrath is a veteran of both European and Asiatic service with the 69th Infantry and is employed in the National Guard ordinance department in New York. Mrs. McGrath is the former Beatrice McCoy of Peekskill.

Sunday afternoon, July 23, 1906, funeral services were held for Mr. Jerusha Locke, well-known South Olive woman.

Miss Margaret Winchell, local Freeman distributor for the past 20 years, has a birthday Tuesday.

Mrs. H. Fagerstrom, the former Shirley Olson, of Brooklyn, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Algot Olson, to whom the bishop referred were those of the first wife of Elliott Roosevelt to the Rev. Benedict Henry Hanson of Baltimore, and the wedding of Dean O'Ferrall to Mrs. Isabelle W. Morrill, 30, who was a member of the choir of the Detroit Cathedral.

It's a fact: 77 years ago the new Rondout and Oswego Railroad was in operation in the towns of Kingston, Hurley, Oliva and Shandaken. There was considerable talk of extending Ulster county's other railroad, the Wallkill Valley, from Kingston to Albany, and this major rail communication between the two cities.

Mrs. Egbert Boice and grandson of Kingston have been visiting her cousins, Otis Wright, William Wardell and Miss Elizabeth-Giles, Mrs. Boice, who before marriage was Mabel Wright, resided in the old village as a girl.

Raymond Cruthers, a summer resident who began coming to Olive more than 30 years ago, is reported to have been promoted to superintendent of the Holland Tunnel.

"Bill" Crosby had one foot badly spiked in the course of the Ashokan-Cementville baseball game at the local field Sunday afternoon. Several stitches were required to close the cut.

John Grant, assistant manager of the Hotel Commodore, who terminated his annual vacation here Saturday, expects four exceptionally busy days the latter part of August during the Legion annual convention in New York city. The Commodore with its 3,200 rooms will be headquarters for a number of the veteran

Will, who is active in Reformed Church work, was in business in the old village, also at Woodstock for several years, and now resides at Ashokan.

Too Much Sun Can Be Bad for Livestock

New York, (Special)—Sunlight is a great health-giver and rich in Vitamin D.

But—too much is too much, and an overdose of sunshine on a hot summer day can be a serious detriment to the health of farm livestock with white skin, the American Foundation for Animal Health warned today.

It's more than a simple sunburn problem, the American Foundation explained. Hair-coated animals with white skin or white spots, particularly hogs and cattle, can suffer serious illness from this cause.

"Photo-sensitization is the heart of the problem," the statement added. "Animals are especially susceptible to sun damage after eating certain kinds of leafy forage. And being dosed with the new anti-parasitic, phenothiazine, leaves many animals allergic to the sun's rays. White pigs may develop a severe skin inflammation, even sloughing off the surface skin. Cattle and sheep may suffer swellings of the eyes, ears and nose, and a liver disturbance may result. Horses with white legs or faces often develop inflammations of these white areas."

The American Foundation advised farmers to provide plenty of shade for their stock.

One further warning was given: "If trouble develops and you suspect it is caused by sunshine, place the affected animal in the shade and call a veterinarian. Have the ailment diagnosed. Skin parasites may be responsible—and in pigs, the trouble may be confused with erysipelas."

Seddon Blanks Nyack Rocklands in Pratt's Home Debut, 4-0

Extends Scoreless Streak to Twenty Straight Innings

George Pratt, the likeable North Carolinian, who swapped a seventh place managerial post for a first place contender, admitted last night that the scenic beauty of his native state matches that of New York, but when it comes to Class D baseball, he'll take the Kingston Dodgers anytime.

A key figure in the cause celebre that saw "Sugar" Scherger transferred to Thomasville, N. C., Pratt sat in on his first N.A.A. skirishes Wednesday night and saw the Dodgers' back the collective ears of the Mahanoy City Bluebirds in a doubleheader.

Seddon's Second Shutout
Making his first appearance before a Kingston gathering of some 750, Pratt called on lanky Ted Seddon last night against Nyack. The high handed responder by tossing a 3-hit, 4-0 shutout, to extend his scoreless streak to 20 consecutive innings.

Ted racked up his eight win against three losses. He had shut out Carbondale the last time out with the bases loaded in the sixth game, maintaining a six-game lead over Rockland, didn't exactly beat out George Barletta's brains, accomplishing only five hits but left fielder Dick Warney made sure that Pratt's homecoming wasn't spoiled by doing a rumba under Andy Belick's long fly with the bases loaded in the third. Warney dropped the fly after a long chase while three Dodgers runners raced around the bases like somebody had hotfooted them.

Thrillies Pinch Hitters
Seddon was superb in the first six rounds, yielding three hits and issuing one pass. His control faltered in the last three heats and big Ted had to squirm out of two dangerous situations. Manager Emil Schwoeb inserted three pinch hitters, two in one inning, in a desperate effort to spoil Seddon's shutout but each fizzled in the most glorious tradition of pinch swingers. The last of the trio bounced into a smart double play to end the game.

Had Barletta been able to get by the third out in a couple of innings the clubs might still be out on the field. He snuffed out Kerr and Newhard in a hurry in the third but Wait Kowalski clipped him for a single to right field. Bartley booted Williams' grounder and Knobby Rosa stroked to lead the bases. Came Belick's long fly, Warney's inglorious muff, three unearned Dodger tallies, and the ball game.

Newhard Doubles
The one legitimate marker was achieved in the fourth when Rudy Antonetz allied a single over second, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Bobby Newhard's double to left.

Nyack loaded the sacks with one out on two walks and Seddon's error in the seventh for their biggest threat. The single over second down to get pinch hitter, Racz, on a pop to Antonetz and struck out Daniels, a second pinch hitter. The shutout was in jeopardy in the ninth when Seddon walked the first two men. This time he got Lanzo to crack into a force play and Ippolito, third pinch swinger, jammed into a double play via Newhard to close shop for the night.

DODGER DOINGS: Tonight's twilight-night twinnish is Kingston's last home appearance until next Thursday. . . Seddon was sharp in the first six rounds, being ahead of virtually every batter. . . This was one of those rare

Mrs. Voss Loses In Tuckahoe Golf To Ann Winslow

Tuckahoe, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of Garden City, defending champion and tourney medalist, meets Mrs. J. B. Balding of Locust Valley today in the semi-finals of the New York State Women's Golf Tournament at Leewood Golf and Country Club.

In the lower bracket, Hilda Swanson of Syracuse, winner over Mrs. Edwin Longscope of Bronxville, 3 and 1, meets Ann Winslow, Frankfort school teacher, who yesterday eliminated Mrs. C. T. Voss of Woodstock 6 and 5. Mrs. Torgerson advanced by defeating Mrs. Charles Leichter of Baldwin 2 up yesterday. Mrs. Torgerson never was on her opponent until she won the 17th after squaring the match on the 16th. Making her triumph decisive, she clubbed out a birdie three on the last hole.

Mrs. Balding got to the round of four by beating Mrs. A. K. Ackerson, also of Locust Valley, 1 up in 19 holes.

Harry Hart Is Killed When Car Crashes Fence

Philadelphia, July 25 (AP)—Harry Hart, 42-year-old former Hollywood stunt man and international midget auto racing champion in 1939, was killed last night when his speeding car crashed into a fence while making a turn on the Yellow Jacket Speedway one-fifth mile oval.

Hart, native of Denver racing out of Tampa, Fla., was attempting to pass George Marshman, Yerkes, Pa., on the 15th and final lap of the semi-final race. The car went into a spin as Hart lost control, crashed into the fence, bounced 10 feet in the air then rolled over several times.

It was the third fatality at the Yellow Jacket track since its opening in 1938. A crowd of 15,800 witnessed the tragedy, a prelude to the 25-lap Keystone State handicap sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer charities.

George Fonder, Lansdale, Pa., won the handicap in 5:38.42. Finishing ahead of Dutch Schaeffer, Floral Park, L. I.; Lloyd Christopher, Miami, Fla.; Larry Bloomer, Norristown, Pa.; and Duane Carter, Los Angeles.

Vines in Hollywood

Hollywood, July 25 (AP)—Ring veteran Vinnie Vines of Schenectady, N. Y., seeks to redeem himself tonight in a rematch with Bob Castro, Los Angeles Mexican lad who scored a technical knockout over the easterner here last May, of the Hollywood Legion Stadium and Vines had "poster me for weeks" for and her go at the local middleweight, who stopped Vines in three rounds.

Jones vs. Morgan's Tonight

The season's top attraction in the City Baseball League is scheduled this evening, when Jones Dairy risks its perfect record against the oncoming Morgan's Restaurant nine, the only club conceded a chance to tie or beat the Dairy men for first place in the regular season.

Bill Windrum is the obvious Jones pitching choice. He has a record of 15 straight City League victories, including seven in a row for the current campaign.

Morgan's can call on either Bill Thomas or Howie Brooks, and according to a rumor circulating last night, Charlie Neff, the old Stone Ridge A-ball pitcher, may be hauled out of retirement for this one game.

Musial's Booming Bat Sparks Cardinals Drive Toward Top

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer
Trace the rise in efficiency of Stan Musial with the stick, and you'll find it parallels the rise of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals from their cellar position of not long ago to their present eminence in third place.

The Cardinals' great first baseman, who ended the 1946 National League season with the most hits, the most doubles and triples as well as a top .365 batting average which helped him win the most valuable player award, got off to his worst start in all of his nine years in professional baseball.

Poughkeepsie Holds Colonial Lead

(By The Associated Press)
Identifying the leader in the red hot race between the Poughkeepsie Giants and the Waterbury Timers for top spot in the Colonial Baseball League was quite a problem today.

The Giants, though they dropped a 5-3 decision to their rivals last night, retained a slim point advantage in the won-loss percentages, but the Timers, having played five more games than Poughkeepsie, actually were a half game ahead.

In other league games last night, the New London Raiders pounded the Stamford Bombers 10 to 1, and Bridgeport won a nip and tuck victory 1 from the Port Chester Clippers, 6 to 2.

Iron Man Mike Kish, the league's leading pitcher, hurled Waterbury to its triumph over Poughkeepsie, but he was behind going into the seventh inning when his mates put on a three-run rally sparked by Frank Gagnier's triple.

New London's win over Stamford spoiled the professional baseball debut of Johnny Heath, negro schoolboy pitcher from Albany, N. Y., whom the Bombers hired Wednesday.

Heath was rapped for 13 hits, five of them in the last inning, but he didn't do as badly as the score would indicate.

Charles to Make Debut
New York, July 22 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, who would rather have a shot at Gus Lesnevich's 175-pound title than be offered up as an opponent for Joe Louis, makes his New York debut tonight in a 10-round fight with Elmer (The Violent) Ray, Minneapolis heavyweight. The newcomer from Cincinnati, winner of 15 straight since coming out of the army, is only a light-heavyweight of 174 pounds. When he enters the Madison Square Garden ring tonight he will be spotting his rival 20 pounds, but his record is such that he has no established a 9 to 9 favorite over Ray. The 20th Century Sporting Club has announced that the winner, if he scores convincingly, will qualify for a "non-title" bout with Louis November 14.

Hofbrau Defeats 7-Up Behind Barnes, 7 to 2

Their dreadful experience against Morgan's Restaurant apparently forgotten, the Hofbrau terrors swung back to pennant form yesterday in the City League, trouncing the willing but out-classed Seven-Up, 7 to 2.

Hofbrau's victory gave them a 6 and 2 record and assured Lou Provenzano of a spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The winners opened with a four-run blast against Harry Secreto, the eternal curver of the soft drink nine, and had the game comfortably wrapped up by the end of the second inning.

Bus Nets Fisherman $1,000 in New Mexico

Hot Springs, N. M., July 25 (AP)—You've heard stories about those big fish that got away, so listen to the tale of George Mackey.

His didn't get away—and just pulling it in netted him a cool $1,000.

Mackey, an Albuquerque bakery employee, hooked the two-pound, five-ounce bass yesterday in Elephant Butte reservoir. It was just a nice catch until he found a tag attached.

That identified the bass as one of 20 worth $1,000 and released in the Hot Springs Sporting Club's $55,000 fish derby. The other 19 are still in the lake.

Opposition Is Expected For Locke at Columbus

Columbus, O., July 25 (AP)—Goldfingers leading money winners start after another $10,000 pot of gold today in the second annual 72-hole medal play Columbus Open Championship.

The field of 93 professionals and 24 amateurs resembled the "Who's Who" of the links, with title-winners galore numbered among the club-swinging athletes.

Bobby Locke, who came to this country from South Africa in May to play a few tournaments, and stayed on to win six of 11—was the No. 1 choice to take the $2,500 top prize annexed a year ago by the now retired Byron Nelson.

But he was expected to have plenty of opposition from such sharpshooters as Sam Snead, Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret, Ed Furgol, Jim Ferrier, Herman Kelson, Lev Worsham, Clayton Heafner, Johnny Palmer, Lawson Little, Ellisworth Vines, Chick Harbert and a host of others.

The classy field plays 18 holes today. Another 18 tomorrow, and the low 60 and the battle down the hole stretch Sunday. Sixty-four of the 107 starters are from Ohio.

Blum Denies Report On Laundry Machines

New York, July 25 (AP)—Herbert Blum, president of the Association of Self-Service Laundry Operators, Inc., issued today a denial of charges made yesterday by Rep. O'Toole (D-N.Y.) that communal laundry machines here contain "violent disease-producing bacteria."

"All member stores operating in the city," Blum said, "have received approval of the department of health and the association conducts periodic examination of all member stores to see that they abide by all sanitary regulations."

O'Toole's statement to the House in Washington that the rental laundry machines, used by several families, are a potential source of a "deadly epidemic."

Dr. Samuel Francis, acting health commissioner, said the congressman was "unnecessarily concerned."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Never Be Certain Suit Will Break

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
While in the South some time ago, I met A. L. Gotthelf again. Gotthelf is a former New Yorker who has spent quite a while in the South. He has had little opportunity to play in the major tournaments, and so he does not have a great many Mas-dealt it out. I picked up the South hand and was going to open with a two-bid, but I decided that spades was the best bid. After all, the boys in the Army are not bridge experts.

Gotthelf won the opening diamond lead with the king and immediately laid down the king of trumps. Then he suddenly realized that if the spades broke badly, he would have to lose a club trick. Therefore, he had to protect against a bad break in spades.

He cashed the ace and king of hearts, and led the ace of diamonds, trumping it in dummy with the six of spades. That's right, he trumped his own ace. Now he led the queen of hearts, on which he discarded his three of clubs.

He returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and cashed his high spade. Then all he had to do was to concede a spade trick.

Cook card players never take it for granted that a suit is going to break. They provide against bad breaks.

Lincoln Industry Urged

E. O'Neill, Deputy Speaker of the Dail, has demanded in Dullin that Eire shall have a State-owned Irish linen industry. He urged that it be established along the lines of the government-controlled sugar industry, to encourage flax cultivation.

Woman Must Return
House, Cost of Ring

Miami, Fla., July 25 (AP)—Dade
County Circuit Judge George E.
Holt yesterday signed an order that Florence Pride Paxton, pretty 27-year-old night club camera girl, must return the house and the cost of an engagement ring which Harry Burger, of Amityville, L. I., bought her during a whirlwind courtship last winter.

Briefs filed in the case showed that Burger, 50, came to Miami on Sept. 3, 1946, for a vacation and to seek an annulment from his third wife. A week later he met the camera girl in a night spot.
At that time, the briefs said

Miss Paxton was seeking an annulment of her marriage to a man she had married in Mexico, her third husband.
Burger said he bought her a bottle of perfume, a wrist watch and a $2,200 engagement ring.
He testified that on Nov. 1 Miss
Paxton had obtained her annulment and closed the deal for a $16,500 house in Miami in the name of
"Florence Paxton, a single wom-

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The unprecedented tongue-lashing administered by American-British representatives to Russian speakers in United Nations meetings Wednesday, during heated debate over the extremely dangerous Balkan situation, looks to your correspondent like a declaration of independence by the democracies.

And I don't seem to be alone in this thought, because some U.N. delegates have expressed the view that the future of the peace organization might depend on the outcome of this verbal battle of the Balkans. Authoritative sources say that if Russia vetoes an American proposal for the establishment of an international border-watch in the Balkans, the United States and Britain and their supporters might feel forced to take action outside the United Nations.

That of course would be the finish—or close to it—of the U.N. Wednesday's upheaval really was the product of several explosions in separate meetings. One of these came in the Security Council which was considering the bitterly debated border-watch along the frontiers of Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, three Soviet satellites which are accused by the Balkan and Albanian governments of aiding the Communist rebellion in Greece—a charge confirmed by a majority of the U.N. investigating commission in the Balkans.

American Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson suddenly erupted with the declaration that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were a menace to international peace. He said there wasn't the slightest evidence of civil liberties in these three countries, and demanded that the council warn them to leave other people's affairs alone, lest a war break out in the Balkans affecting the whole world. Strong mustard that!

Then in the U.N. membership committee Soviet Delegate Gromyko's chief deputy, Alexei Kravitskiy, drew hot fire when he blasted the western powers for their opposition to the admission of Albania and accused them of attempting to undermine the "Young People's Republic." This brought Britain's Valentine Lawford to his feet with the assertion that the Russian's speech was "junk." Lawford said it was deplorable that U.N. delegates should be subject to such tirades day after day. The United States and Australia joined in blasting the Soviet representative.

Sweeney Arrested
William Sweeney, 42, of Big Indian, was arrested at Shandaken by Deputy Sheriff Theron Townsend yesterday on a charge of public intoxication. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Decker, Shandaken, Sweeney was sent to the county jail to await further hearing.

Norris Awaits Hearing
James Norris, 41, of New Salem, is in the county jail awaiting a hearing before Justice of the Peace Everett Soper, Town of Esopus, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Norris was arrested at Esopus yesterday by State Police of the Highland barracks.

ant Secretary of State Willard Thorp told the Economic and Social Council that America was strongly opposed to the Russian proposal to prohibit international loans for military purposes. This was taken to be tantamount to saying that America has no intention of abandoning the Truman doctrine of giving aid to countries which are threatened by aggressive Communism.

Well, where does this declaration of independence carry us? Supposing the western democracies should feel compelled to take action outside the United Nations because the Soviet veto stifles effective action within the organization?

It could (and probably would) mean that chances of making the U.N. a going concern were virtually nil—a sad blow to a world which has been banking on this successor to the League of Nations. Still, the cold fact is that the U.N. thus far hasn't been able to get into action as a protector of peace because of the split between the Russian bloc and the western democracies. And one sees no signs of a break in this deadlock. However, should worse come to worst and the two factions go their separate ways (which heaven forbid), the western nations would be able to achieve much which now is being held up. All of the great powers excepting Russia are in the western bloc, as are the vast majority of the smaller nations, and they could constitute a very excellent peace organization. So far as concerns Russia and her satellites, all the signs are that Moscow is bent on creating a Red bloc which will play a lone hand in any event.

The above of course is not advocacy of splitting up the U.N. but is merely a discussion of what might happen if it did split.

exhibition at the Art Students League in Woodstock.

All Request Program
To Be Given at Maverick
Woodstock, July 25—An all request program will be heard Sunday afternoon, July 27th, at four o'clock in the Maverick Concert Hall.
Inez Carroll, pianist; Pierre Henrotte, violinist, and Cynthia Eddy, cellist, will play Franck's Sonata in A Major and Tschalkowsky Trio Opus 50. This trio was completed in January, 1882 and dedicated to the memory of a great artist, Nicholas Rubinstein, whose death so affected Tschalkowsky that he felt no inclination to embark upon an important composition, until several months later, he took up his pen once more and began to compose this work.

Clothing Booth Is Popular Place
At Library Fair
Woodstock, July 25—A great day for Woodstock will be July 3. About 2 o'clock crowds will be seen going by car, foot and horse to the library grounds where booths gay with crepe paper and flowers sell innumerable objects.
To the left of the grounds will be a large tent, once belonging to the ladies of the Market Fair, who very kindly presented it to the library last year. This is the famous used clothing booth. The clothing booth has been one of the most important booths at the fair for the past twenty years.
Here, among the racks of clothes, the patient shopper may find nearly anything. Top hats, street clothes, evening clothes for both men and women and often a marvelous buy, such as the fur-lined coat that was discovered last year.
This remarkable institution is run by Mrs. Henry Morton Robinson and his able assistant, Mrs. Elizabeth Clough, and it is mainly due to their efforts that through the years this booth has continued to be one of the most important attractions at the Fair.
The large grey tent also proves a happy hunting ground for those desperately searching for shoes and clothes to be sent to Europe.
